~ from Killing to Coexistence

Known as America's native "Song Dogs", coyotes are native to Nevada and are important to healthy ecosystems. Yet humans have been waging war on the species for the last two centuries - much to no avail. Come and learn about why killing contests and other lethal programs are ineffective and what we can do - as individuals and communities - to better coexist with this highly adaptable, intelligent and resilient native carnivore.

Location: Windmill Library
7060 W. Windmill Lane (off of Rainbow)

There is no charge for the program!
